SUNDAY INTRODUCTIONS

First reading Jeremiah 20:7-9
For people who tell it like is it (prophets often sounded like whistleblowers) it can be very hard. They hate saying hard things all the time and yet they cannot keep it in. Jeremiah—a whistleblower if ever there was one—was no different.

Second reading Romans 12:1-2
We all want to discover the will of God, to know what is good and what is the perfect thing to do. Writing to the divided community in Rome, St Paul has a few things to say about this.

Gospel Matthew 16:21-27
The place of suffering in our lives is a great challenge and, without cheapening it, a kind of mystery. Why do we "have" to suffer? Even more, why did Jesus? Peter—impulsive as even—captures our bafflement "God's way."

Blessing of Painting of Pope Francis

Our new painting of Pope Francis painted by our Sacristan Kevin Shortt, will be blessed at 11.30am Mass on Sunday 10th September. We thank Kevin for sharing his creative talents with us.

Sincere sympathies to the family, neighbours and friends of Bernadette Tighe (Marsham Court) whose funeral took place during the week.
